

Merry Christmas!

It seems you have been very lucky to receive video games as part of your present this year. Games can be lots of fun, but there are a few things I would like you to remember.....

 You will always check with a parent before playing a new game to be sure that it is appropriate for your age

 Ask a parent to give you a warning before it is time to pack away the games so you can finish the level you are at or save your game to play at another time

 If you are playing with friends you will always be kind and not use bad words

 If you have a password for your game, you will not share this with anyone else unless a parent says is OK

 Even though you may love playing video games, you need to be sure that you play with all sorts of different toys and get lots of time playing outside without using technology all the time

 Enjoy
